

THE ANCHOR

Bancroft Capital's Quarterly Newsletter

SECOND QUARTER 2021

JULY 15, 2021

CEO CAULDON QUINN GRADUATES FROM MERCK DREXEL ADVANCED LEADERSHIP PROGRAM

Bancroft Capital Founder and CEO Cauldon Quinn recently graduated from the Merck Drexel Advanced Leadership Program (ALP) as part of the inaugural cohort.

The ALP is a four-part, three-month executive development opportunity for diverse business owners to enhance their leadership and business acumen to strengthen and grow their business.

Designed with Merck by Drexel University in collaboration with Diversity Alliance for Science (DA4S), this experiential development program is focused on application and supported by evidenced-based research and practitioner-industry experience. Participants have an opportunity to engage with faculty, their peers and Merck organizational leaders in thought-provoking, facilitated discussion that enhances self-reflection and personal development while building relationships across the broader community network.

VETERAN TRAINING PROGRAM CANDIDATE MILES MARSHALL LAUNCHES INTO NASA

Veteran Training Program (VTP) Candidate Miles Marshall, a retired US Air Force Evaluator Pilot and Director of Operations for two different combat operational squadrons, will conclude his time as a VTP Candidate in Bancroft's northern California office to begin a career with NASA as Mission Director.

Marshall will lead the Stratospheric Observatory for Infrared Astronomy (SOFIA) Project. He will be responsible for conducting SOFIA's onboard science and mission operations. He will become the Senior Mission Operations Support person on the flight responsible for command and control of overall mission operations and the Observatory's mission systems.

Marshall credits the VTP with providing a platform to restore him into the civilian workforce and lead him to a new career as NASA Mission Director. Marshall's departure leaves an opening in Bancroft's Los Angeles, California office, located at 1901 Avenue of the Stars, to enroll a new VTP Candidate.

2ND QUARTER CO-MANAGED TRANSACTIONS

DID YOU KNOW?

On July 4, Bancroft celebrated the fourth anniversary of our founding. We would like to sincerely thank all of our counterparts who have helped us build our firm and supported our mission.

